

THE SOLO FOUNDER SERIES

Run a Portfolio Like a Company

The org chart, costs, and delegation model that lets one person operate like a team.

From scattered projects to a company

Multiple ventures become chaos when they live in your head. Give each one a structure and suddenly you're a CEO, not a juggler.

The org chart

Each venture gets a CEO 'agent' that delegates to sub-roles: marketing, research, product. You orchestrate the CEOs; they run their lanes.

- ☐ List every venture + its status
- ☐ Give each a one-line 'goal right now'
- ☐ Assign each a CEO + sub-roles
- ☐ Set priority order — where focus goes first

The cost map

For each workstream, write: who runs it, what tool, monthly cost, status. You can't optimize what you can't see.

THE AUDIT HABIT

Once a month: which tools serve an active workstream? Cut the rest. One tool per job.

The cadence

A daily brief sets each venture's top 1-3 tasks. A weekly review checks numbers + spend. The rhythm runs the company.

REMEMBER

Structure is leverage. The org chart is what lets one person hold five ventures without dropping any.
