

MONEY & TOOLS

The Lean AI Tool Stack

What to actually pay for - and the expensive tools you can skip - with a prompt to right-size your own stack.

Spend where it compounds. Skip the shiny tools you used once.

- 1 Pay for: one strong daily-driver model, a scheduler, one voice/clip tool, hosting.
- 2 Think twice: overlapping video generators - pick one.
- 3 Skip avatar tools if you film yourself.
- 4 Cut 'autonomous agent' tools that duplicate your main model.
- 5 Right-size: subscribe only the months you actually use a tool.

That's the whole system. The rest of this guide walks each step, with copy-paste prompts you can run in one tap.

The deep walkthrough

1

Right-size your stack

Match spend to how you actually work.

PROMPT · RIGHT-SIZE MY STACK

Here's my current AI/tool spend: [LIST with costs]. Tell me what to keep, what's redundant (overlapping jobs), what to right-size to a cheaper tier, and what to cancel. Factor in that my brand is [self-shot / faceless]. Give me the leanest stack that still does the job.

Decide before you buy

Stop impulse subscriptions.

PROMPT · SHOULD I BUY THIS

I'm tempted to subscribe to [TOOL] at [PRICE]. Ask me what active workstream it would serve and whether I already own a tool that does the job. Then give me a straight keep/skip with one reason.

THE SELF-SHOT RULE

If your brand is real, on-camera you, you need far fewer paid media tools than a faceless creator. Authenticity is cheaper and converts better.

GO DEEPER

Want this done for you?

This guide hands you the system. If you'd rather have it built for you, that's what I do: I find where your time leaks and build the tool that plugs it. No hype — just your hours, back.
