

THE SOLO FOUNDER SERIES

Delegate to AI Agents

Stop doing every task yourself. Assign work to AI 'managers' and review the output.

The mindset shift

You are not the worker. You are the one who guides and approves. The AI does the work; you make the calls.

Set up your managers

Name an agent per area: a marketing manager, a research manager, a product manager. Give each a clear remit and a way to receive tasks.

- ☐ Define each manager's job in one sentence
- ☐ Write the standing rules each follows
- ☐ Create a simple task board: who's doing what
- ☐ Review output — approve, redirect, or ship

The hand-off pattern

TEMPLATE

“As my [marketing] manager: [task]. Constraints: [brand/voice]. Deliver: [format]. I'll approve before it ships.”

What stays human

Final approval, taste, relationships, and the decisions only you can make. Everything upstream of that can be delegated.
